Note on enlisting organisations belonging to private sector of KERALA as Total Solution Providers for IT implementation in government departments.

IT policy of government of Kerala has emphasized on availing the enormous potential of Information Technology as a tool to improve governance and thereby ensure responsive and citizen friendly administration. In line with this, state government has initiated measures to computerise various government departments. It has been decided that leading companies in IT sector may be entitled as Total Solution Providers to carry out the task. Departments will be approaching these agencies for assistance in implementing IT solutions.

As per the IT policy of the state and the Task Force Report on IT implementation in Government, government computerisation should pave way to develop a strong IT industrial base in the state. Also for the computerisation programme to deliver tangible results it should be carried out in a time bound manner. In this scenario, possibility of enlisting organisations belonging to private sector of Kerala, as TSPs may be explored. This will act as a catalyst to boost the emerging IT companies in the state. Also, Departments will be privileged to make a choice from wider range of excellent service providers.

This is the right time to channel investments in the IT industry to Kerala. By IT implementation in Government departments, government itself will evolve as a new market for IT products and services. This will effect in projecting Kerala as the ideal destination for new entrepreneurs in IT industry as envisaged in IT policy.

According to the report on IT procurement in government, the TSPs will be advised to outsource a certain portion of their activities to local firms. This will result in employment generation to a large extent.

Unlike the other public sector companies which have already been approved as TSP, most of the IT companies in private sector of Kerala doesn't have their own training division. They will be outsourcing training to others functioning in this sector, which will eventually result in promotion of local private training institutes.

For qualifying private sector companies as TSPs the following criteria may be applied.

1. They shall be companies located in Technopark/STPI/Cochin Export Processing Zone or companies registered with STPI with experience in handling projects on content creation and Management Information System.
2. They shall be companies working with government for past 3 years or should have completed at least 5 government or government institution computerization projects.

Responsibilities of TSPs

- To carry out pre-feasibility study of the concerned department and to suggest complete plan for computerisation.
- To prepare tender documents for the procurement of necessary hardware and peripherals in consultation with the user department and the department of information technology.
- The TSP shall also be responsible to administer the shrink-wrapped software on direct hardware purchase.
- To carry out inspection of IT products procured and to certify the efficiency of the product.
- To carry out installation/commissioning of the IT products procured
- To provide onsite support for the hardware, software peripherals, etc.
- To carry out software development, customizing of package software and imparting necessary training to concerned personnel.
- To provide annual technical support to ensure smooth operation of the entire system.
- The TSP shall provide guarantee to the software development for a period of 5 years. The amount of such performance guarantee shall be equivalent to 10% of the total payment made to the TSPs by the department. This guarantee will be in the form of a bank guarantee and should be provided to the department before full and final payment to TSPs

- The TSP shall also conceive and implement an orientation and training on basic computer concepts, operating systems, office automation software, communication, messaging software , network administration and application software. Ideally this would be done through local training institutions. The TSP shall draw the curriculum for such training and also ensure that the training is delivered in an effective manner.

Companies shall submit offer of interest to Information Technology Department. Also, in order to avoid unnecessary delay in the process, companies may be directed to submit a proposal with details of resources available & charges/rates applicable for different items of work. This shall be supplemented with information regarding years in existence, turnover during last two/three years, details of similar work done elsewhere etc. The format in which rates can be offered is enclosed. The rates should comprise of the TA & DA of the employees of the company who will be deputed for the work.
